SCRIPTURE BOOKLET - THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS

Matthew 4; Luke 4-5

Credit for this idea goes to Ticia at Adventures in Mommydom.

When Jesus was tempted by Satan (Matthew 4:1-11 and Luke 4:1-13), he quoted scripture to help him resist those temptations. We can also find strength in knowing scripture and the teachings of the gospel. Here is a fun craft that helps kids become more familiar with key scriptures:

Materials: one printed booklet for each kid (found below), stapler, scissors, crayons/colored pencils

Print out a scripture booklet for each child and gather the remaining supplies.

Read the story of the temptation of Jesus together (Matthew 4:1-11 and/or Luke 4:1-13). Discuss how Jesus resisted temptation from Satan. Talk about how we can also resist temptation by being familiar with the scriptures and teachings of the gospel.

Explain that now we're all going to make our own little scripture booklets so we can remember important scriptures.

If the kids are old enough, let them help cut out the booklet pages.

Let the kids color and decorate their own booklet pages.

Help them staple their booklet together.

Read through the scriptures in the booklet together and talk about when knowing each scripture would be helpful. (This process of reading and discussing can take place in one day, several days, several weeks, etc. Go at the pace that's best for your family and children's ages. You can also choose to review certain scriptures in the booklet every now and then to help the kids become more familiar with them. Older kids may set goals to memorize these verses.)

* Feel free to add additional scripture pages if you would like. There are two blank pages for this purpose.

BEHOLD, HE WHO HAS REPENTED OF HIS SINS, THE SAME IS FORGIVEN, AND I, THE LORD, REMEMBER THEM NO MORE.
D&C 58:42

Jesus saith unto him I am the way, the truth, and the life: no man cometh unto the Father, but by me.
